

Advantages Of

Bio-metric Security

Over the past few years, use of bio-metric security systems such as fingerprint scans, iris & facial recognition is on rise. This is due to the fact that bio-metric devices are easy to use and offer remarkable security features.

Identification Accuracy

Bio-metric systems are extremely accurate in identifying an individual, which means that chances of a security breach are minimal. This is because it is extremely difficult to duplicate fingerprints or iris scans.

Reduces Administrative Costs

Modern bio-metric systems are quite easy to install and use, this in turn reduces management costs such as issuance of new, lost or stolen ID cards. This reduces overall cost of keeping the system safe from security breaches.

Establishes Accountability

Implementing bio-metric security solutions effectively can help in establishing accountability, i.e. each transaction or action done by the user will be documented by person associated with it, which in turn will mitigate possibility of misuse or fraud.

More Convenient

The bio-metric security systems are quite convenient since they are based on your physiological attributes. Another reason for their convenience is that there is no need to remember typical/complicated passwords or carrying around different kinds of ID cards.
